

ACE Survey

This ACE Survey is a snapshot of exposure to adverse childhood experiences and protective factors. It covers nine common forms of adverse childhood experiences and typical supports during your childhood that will support effective assessment and help customize treatment and service interventions. This survey can be used as a tool to learn about how early childhood experiences impact an individual over a lifespan and explore how current symptoms/behavior may be linked to early childhood experiences. Completing the following survey is optional and you can be provided with an opportunity to take the survey at a later date. If you would like more information about the ACE survey, please ask your clinician or go to <https://www.cdc.gov/violenceprevention/acestudy/about.html>
